2012 Hill Country Charity Ball Recipient

Riverside Nature Center will be educating today's youth for a better tomorrow more than ever since being chosen the 2012 recipient of Charity Ball funds. There is an urgent obligation to upgrade the equipment and programs, specifically the ones geared towards children. High-quality, low-cost accessible information and education for area families, individuals, businesses and area schools are essential if local communities are to respond effectively to the water crisis and other natural resource issues.

The funds raised will provide a modern, 21st Century educational facility equipped with multiple teaching tools both indoors and outdoors. Specifically, these funds will transform the center's atrium into a revised learning center. This area will host interactive educational displays directed toward children's learning. Numerous outside display gardens such as rainwater harvesting garden and a deer-resistant garden will be added to provide a hands-on learning experience for the entire family.

Riverside Nature Center is the only non-profit organization in the area dedicated to the education on Hill Country natural and native resource issues. As the center has grown over the past 22 years, so has the need for its programs. With a mission to develop public awareness and conservation of the Texas Hill Country's environment and natural resources, The Riverside Nature Center is committed to education, disseminating information and promoting stewardship to the Hill Country community.
